

ATTORNEY DOCKET NO.:
64646.00002

PATENT APPLICATION
CUSTOMER NO. 24347

- 26 -

ABSTRACT

In one configuration, a device has been provided for recognizing the locked condition of a seat belt buckle. In this configuration, the device include a sensor that 5 directly interrogates the condition of the seat belt buckle by a change in inductance. In another configuration, a device has been provide that recognizes a condition of a safety belt buckle. In this configuration, the device includes a sensor that directly 10 interrogates the condition of the seat belt buckle by a change in inductance.